Maximizing CMS Funding: Strategic Financial Management for Program Coordinators/Administrators

Tuesday, January 14, 2025 ~ 1:00-2:00 p.m. Eastern

GME program coordinators/administrators play a crucial role in facilitating CMS reimbursement for institutions. By fully understanding your responsibilities, you can help institutions optimize their Medicare reimbursements. But where do you start? By gaining a clear understanding of Medicare reimbursements and the specifics of IRIS reporting, you can effectively contribute to the process.

Objectives:
At the conclusion of the session, learners should be able to:

- Recognize the program coordinator/administrator's role in IRIS reporting;
- Describe CMS funding of GME and the program coordinator/administrator's role; and,
- Apply best practices to maximize CMS reimbursement.

Speakers:
Julie Beckerdite, MBA is leading the integration of the pathology training programs at Brigham and Women's Hospital (BWH) and Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH). She has nearly 20 years of experience in GME administration on both the program management side and as administrative director/institutional coordinator. She has completed the AAMC GME leadership certificate course. In her capacity as Administrative Director for GME at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, she was responsible for running the IRIS in partnership with the finance team, resolving any errors, and implementing a new residency management system (RMS), which included working with MedHub finance consultants to set up the system for IRIS. She is a member of the ACGME Coordinator Advisory Group and on the board of directors for the National Society of Academic Medical Administrators (NSAMA).

Barry Aronoff has over 25 years of experience in graduate medical education (GME) reimbursement and is responsible for the annual IRIS filing for New York Presbyterian Hospital (NYPH) in New York City. NYPH has over 150 accredited GME programs and nearly 1,900 trainees. It is one of the largest centers of GME in the country.

Moderator:
Melissa Molina-Trinidad, MBA, C-TAGME is the Senior Program Coordinator at Columbia University Irving Medical Center and is Chair of AHME's Council of Program Administrators & Coordinators (COPAC).
