Presents the latest Teleconference by phone!

Quality Initiatives to Meet Our Educational Goals: Washington Hospital Center's Innovative Strategies Tuesday, March 6, 2012 ~ 1:00-2:00 p.m. Eastern

A price-conscious, value-packed audio conference sponsored by CCME (Council for Continuing Medical Education) – one of AHME's four councils.

Academic medical centers are challenged to find new organizational and program strategies to successfully integrate the requirements of medical education with the quality improvement process. Synergies abound, but require creative leadership and collaborative structures to achieve program goals. Washington Hospital Center, the largest hospital in the nation's capital, has achieved an impressive level of success in meeting the challenge. Dr. Janis Orlowski, Chief Medical Officer, will highlight the Center's quality improvement initiatives involving residents and faculty, as well as describe the hospital's nationally recognized Teaching Scholars Program. Join us for this thoughtful and substantive presentation!

Objectives:

At the end of this teleconference session, the learner should be able to:

- Discuss organizational structures necessary to align GME and CME programs with institutional quality goals
- Identify GME and CME interventions that will address quality priorities
- Foster a new culture of medical education and quality management staff collaboration
- Improve care outcomes via faculty scholarship
- Address accreditation requirements of the ACGME, ACCME, and Joint Commission

Speaker: Janis M. Orlowski, MD, MACP joined Washington Hospital Center in May 2004. Dr. Orlowski provides overall clinical leadership and oversight and also oversees quality of care, medical education and research at the Hospital Center. A veteran hospital administrator, Dr. Orlowski spent 22 years at Rush Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago before coming to Washington Hospital Center. Dr. Orlowski also serves as the Chair, DC Board of Medicine.

Moderator: Robert D'Antuono, MHA, is an AHME board member, CCME Chair-Elect and Director of Continuing Medical Education at Winthrop University Hospital.
